

COURSE CARD: E3S - UK - UNINOT - 2

University: University of Nottingham, UK

Course: Sensory evaluation –Statistical Method and Interpretation

Course code: D24SS2

Credits: 10

Language: English

Instructor: Dr Joanne Hort, Associate Professor in Sensory Science C Gilbert Campden BRI

When: Every January, next course Jan16-19, 2012 - 4 day intensive course (held at Campden BRI, Gloucs, UK)

Content: Statistics for Sensory and Consumer Science. Statistics for discrimination testing/similarity testing. Analysis of Ranked data. Summary Statistics, T-tests, ANOVAs Correlation and regression. Principal Components analysis cluster analysis and Preference mapping.
A variety of lectures and hands on practical sessions using a range of industry standard software.
Assessed by Coursework and an examination.

Textbook: Several

Requirements: Introductory Sensory Evaluation Course e.g. D24SS1 or D24PSQ or equivalent

For whom: Post grad Sensory Science students

Students (n): 11

Source of info: Joanne Hort, joanne.hort@nottingham.ac.uk

Date: October 27th, 2011